(This book was loaned to me by Mrs. J.H. (Elizabeth Spotts "Tot Harlow) Bell in ~~February~~ March, 1952. The following excerpt taken from this book, and a resume genealogical record is in the following pages. Some references from Chalkley Court records of Augusta Co., Va., and from Morton's History of Alleghany Co., Va. will be added to the records to round out some family lines. The resume was typed by J.H. Arbuckle of Clovis, Cal., in March, 1952.)

CARPENTER COAT OF ARMS

Carpenter, as a surname, is of occupational origin, meaning "the carpenter", from the old French CARPENTIER, a worker in wood. In England, the name appears very frequently in the hundred rolls of various English counties. (Bardsley: Dict. of Eng. & Welsh Names) A John Carpenter was living in the county of Dorset, 1303. He was a member of parliament in 1323 of the borough of Leake in Cornwall. In 1303, a Samuel Carpenter was a member of parliament from Cornwall. Later on in history, a John Carpenter was town clerk of London in 1442. The first known record of a Carpenter emigrant coming to America, was a William Carpenter who came from Ireland to Weymouth, Mass. in 1638. (Americana Magazine, April 1939)

Carpenter, Coat of Arms, from Burke's "General Armory" ARMS:- Argent (silver), a greyhound passant, and chief Sable (black).
Crest - a greyhound's head, erased per fesse sable and argent.
Motto - Celeritas, virtus, fidelitas.

The parentage of the Carpenter brothers who settled on Jackson's river in 1746 is unknown. Tradition coming down in the family says the original ancestor who came to America came from Ireland, settled in the state of New York, probably when the great influx of the Scotch-Irish came from 1725 to 1750.

Joseph Carpenter came down from New York alone, staked out a claim on Jackson's river, just below where Covington is today located, planted a crop, then returned home and brought back his family. Peter Wright who staked out a claim where the town of Covington is located came along with him. Very likely his other brothers, Solomon and Zopher, came with him then. There was a Nicholas Carpenter, no doubt a younger brother, came down about 1750 and stake out a claim where White Sulphur Springs in Greenbrier County.

Mrs. Carpenter in her book was somewhat confused in some of the children of these four brothers, so I have referred to my book "Chalkey Records of Augusta Co., Va.", Thwaites edition of Withers "Chronicles of Border Warfare", Kegley's "Virginia Frontier", Of F. Morton's histories of Bath and Alleghany Counties, Va., for more details, and have unraveled some of them. Proper references will be given, if not in Mrs. Carpenter's book. Also I have added a few families of the female lines in some of the earlier generations that I happened to have.

Others. The militia tried to catch them as deserters, but their efforts were unsuccessful. After 4 years living as an outlaw with around 20 followers, Col. Skillern, advised the Va. Gov. to give all of them pardons and persuade them to join the army. A flag of truce was declared, Solomon and his followers talked with Skillern, and they all joined up for 2 years service in the Rev. War.

1. CARPENTER, unknown ancestor who migrated from Ireland to New York, probably around 1725-30. Known children are:

Res. Low Moor, Va.

It is unknown where he first lived, when one first settled on the James river, but likely near his brother Joseph's home where a stockad fort was built for Indian protection. He was married and had sever children when he came from New York. All the three brothers who settled on Jackson's river were in the French and Indian war in the Dickinson's rangers from 1757 to 1759 (Kegley, p. 272-3) and several of their sons. When the raid of Jackson's river was made in 1756 by the Swanee Indians, Carpenter's fort was attacked. Nicholas Carpenter was killed and 3 carpenter children were captured and carried off into captivity. History does not tell outright the names of the children, but by searching thru various historical books, it is possible to tell the names of some of them. Among them were Solomon Jr. Jeremiah, and Ben Carpenter, sons of Solomon Sr. More details will be given later about them.

When a boy, he was made captive of the Indians, and was almost a grown man, when he returned home to his people on Jackson's river. At the beginning of the Rev. war Col. Skillern signed him up to fight in the war with a promise of good pay as a bodyguard of Gen. Washington. After joining up, he was made a private with small pay. It was not long till he became absent, and several others. The Va. Militia tried to catch them as deserters, but their efforts were unsuccessful. After 4 years living as an outlaw with around 20 followers, Col. Skillern, advised the Va. Govt. to give all of them pardons and persuade them to join the army. 3. Jeremiah Carpenter - - - - - m. _____

He was taken prisoner the same time as his brother Solomon. He was taken prisoner the same time as his brother Solomon. When he returned sometime before 1790, with other ~~xxxxxx~~ Bath County people moved to Elk river in Mongahela Co. (now Braxton Co.) about 12 miles from the present town of Sutton. This was in the central part of the state of W.Va., and in dangerous Indian country. In 1791, Nicholas Carpenter (whom I consider a son of Nicholas that was killed at Ft. Carpenter in 1786) was with others driving a herd of cattle from Mongahela Co. to Marietta, Ohio to market. About 7 miles from their destination they camped for the night. Early the next morning, the Indians attacked the camp. Nicholas and his young son waded out into a lake to escape detection, but they were seen and both killed. In 1793, the Indians raided the settlement in Mongahela Co., Ben Carpenter, brother of Jeremiah, was killed with his wife and their cabin burned. (Wither's Border warfare, pages 399 and 414.) Jeremiah Carpenter and his wife with others hid in a cave across the river where brother Benn was murdered, and they staid here till the Indians left. Jeremiah Carpenter was always called Dr. Carpenter, for when he was with the Indian, he learned how to use various herbs for healing sickness, and used it treating the white people where he lived.

Dr. Carpenter's wife gave birth to a son, Saul, about the time that Ben Carpenter and wife were murdered by the Indians. When Saul became grown and married he had a son William, who lived to be 94 years old before he died. He was always known a "Squirrel Bill Carpenter", for he was a great hunter. Thirty or 40 years ago Andrew Price of Marlinton, W.Va. author of the Pochantus Times, wrote an article about Squire Bill when he died.

widow of John McClanahan who was a brother of Robert McClanahan who was killed at Ft. Pleasant in 1774, and daughter of Thomas Lewis son of John Lewis). Michael Boyer II was a lawyer of pre-war soldier. He married Sarah Carpenter in

2. Zopher Carpenter-
Res. Mallow, Va.

m. Ezenias

During the French and Indian War Zopher was drummer boy in Dickinson's rangers 1757-1759 (Kegley, p. 358). He owned land north of Jackson's river opposite the mouth of Potts creek. There is no record left of any children, except a daughter, Elizabeth, who married 1776, David Glassburn, and they were given a deed to 180 acres of land north of Jackson's river, and they sold it to a Michael Mallow. The name of Zopher's wife is mentioned in Chalkley, vol. 2, p. 417. -no other record of him or descendants.

Mary Boyer married James Caldwell of Baltimore, Mo., was a sea merchant. He was a man of means, and in 1810 bought all the other heirs of the Carpenter property, then built a house at the Springs and called it "Briarfield". It was not long

3. Nicholas Carpenter-

- Sept. 1786 m. Kate

Res. 1780, where White Sulphur Springs, W.Va. is today.

So soon he came south from New York 2 or 3 years after his brothers did, for he filed a claim for 950 acres on land where White Sulphur Springs, W.Va. is now located. He he built his home. In 1786 during the Indian raids, he fled with his wife and children to the Jackson's river settlements. Being uneasy on the way, he hid his wife and baby, Frances in a mountain hidout, and continued to Ft. Carpenter with his older children. He reached there safely, but when the Indians raided Ft. Young he was killed in the battle. Mrs. Carpenter in her book says all his children were killed to, out according to historical records 5 Carpenter children were taken captives by the Indians (Chalk, Vol. 2, p. 511 "Preston papers" and also Morton's Bath Co., Va., p. 32). Three of these children were sons of Solomon Carpenter Sr., so the other two must have been those of Nicholas.

Kate Carpenter and her baby Frances expected Nicholas to return but he never did, so she managed to get to Staunton, Va. The mountain on which she hid today bears her name, "Kate Mountain". Known children:

1. Frances Carpenter - ~~xxxxxx~~ 1784 m. Capt. Michael Boyer d. 1809

In 1782, Kate Carpenter ~~xxxxxx~~, relict of Nicholas Carpenter, signed a release to her dowry to the 950 acres in Greenbrier county (Chalk, Vol. 3, p. 565). Fanny married Boyer in 1766. After her mother gave Boyer a deed to the Greenbrier land, he moved there and built his home. They had one daughter, Fanny Boyer, who married William Bedford. When Fanny Bedford inherited the property after Boyer's death in 1809, they named the place "Briarfield".

Quite an interesting story of this property, Lt. Col. Boyer and descendants, later owners of the property, and its history in Mrs. Dayton's book "Greenbrier Pioneers and their Homes". Mrs. Carpenter in her book, did not give all the names of the Boyer children, so I will give a brief resume of this article by Mrs. Dayton.

Michael Boyer was a son of Lt. Col. William Boyer ~~xxxxxx~~ a merchant of Staunton, Va. whose first wife was a dau. of Israel Christian, and second wife was Margaret Ann Lewis-McClanahan widow of John McClanahan who was a brother of Robert McClanahan who was killed at Ft Pleasant in 1774, and daughter of Thomas Lewis son of John Lewis). Michael Boyer II was a lawyer by profession, and a Rev. war soldier. He married Fannie Carpenter in 1766.

Michael Boyer lived in Staunton till after his wife's death in 1784, then came to Greenbrier co. and settled on the Carpenter lands. He had four children - James, Mary, Fannie, and Elizabeth. James, the oldest, inherited all of his father's property, but being a fair minded person, divided some of the property to his three sisters. Around 200 acres upon which the Springs were located, he made an inheritance for which all would receive equal benefits.

Mary Boyer married James Caldwell of Baltimore, Mo., who was formerly a sea merchant. He was a man of means, and in 1810 bought out all the other heirs of the Carpenter property, then built a hotel at the Springs and called it "Briarfield". It was not long till the place became a popular Summer-resort. In 1888, the property changed ownership according to Mrs. Dayton's article, but she did not say who. Anyway the property was run on a more elaborate scale, catering more to the wealthy people. Mrs. Dayton does not state who the owners were till the Chesapeake and Ohio railway acquired the property in 1929 or 30, and name the place "White Sulphur Spring".

(Mrs. Carpenter in her book, states in her book that A.E. Hudson bought the place in 1894 and name the place "Belle Plain". Thornton Lewis bought it in 1906 and named it "Belle Plain".)

Fanny Boyer married William Bedford. No mention is made in the article, except her brother James Boyer gave her 200 acres of the Carpenter estate. Vol. 1, p. 416. Joseph Carpenter was living in 1770. For he had a law suit with Edward McMillen over a land mortgage on 100 acres of land, and William Hughes bought it at auction. His signature was on the document.

Elizabeth Boyer married John Copeland. She inherited 200 acres of the Carpenter estate west of the Springs along the turnpike. Mrs. Copeland at that time a widow erected a dignified residence on her property and named it "Briarfield. In 1830 she conveyed the property to her son John H. Copeland, and in 1870 he conveyed it to Col. Joel McPherson.

Res. St. Carpenter, Alle., Co., Va.
- Joseph Carpenter came down from New York to the Jackson River region in 1740 and staked out a tract of 782 acres on the south side at the mouth of Potts creek. then he returned back home and brought his family down, and probably his brothers Solomon and Ephraim and Peter Wright came down with him. He had quite a family of children, probably some of them grown when he came. He built a fort, known as St. Carpenter, and here made his home.
- He was a man of considerable influence in his community. During the French and Indian war, all the Carpenters brothers and their grown sons were soldiers in the army.

probably she lived several years after he moved to the Jackson's river home, for in 1768, he married 2nd. a Mrs. Judith Scott, widow of John Scott and had 3 small children -- Joseph, James, and John Scott (Chalk. Vol. 1, p. 116). Joseph Carpenter was living in 1776, for he had a law suit with Edward McMullen over a land mortgage on 160 acres of land, and William Hugnart bought it at a public sale. His signature was on the document.

(Joseph Carpenter may have married Judith Scott in 1761 for he was appointed guardian of John Scott's orphans (Chalk. Vol. 3, p. 24; and Benjamin Scott, administrator of John Scott in Mar. 1764, stating that Joseph Carpenter married Judith Scott previously (Chalk. Vol. 1, p. 66).)

Joseph was given Joseph was 78 years old. In 1763, Joseph Sr. sold or gave his son Joseph Jr. 232 acres of land.

According to the above reference, Joseph would have been 10 years old when the Indians raided Carpenters for on Jackson's river.

Whether German Seely had any children is unknown, for no record is left in history records of any.

Res. Covington, Va.

He was the only son of his father that did not leave home. After his father's death the home place was left to him. He lived the life of a gentleman farmer and was considered a man of good standing in his community. O.S. Morton in his Alleghany Co. Va. history says that two Samuel Carpenters served in the state legislature. On page 149, a Samuel Carpenter served almost continuously from 1839 to 1877. Samuel Carpenter served almost continuously from 1839 to 1877. Samuel Carpenter Sr. died in 1843, so he must have served two terms from 1839 to 1841.

Before further progress with the record, I will give a short sketch of the Persinger family, both the Senior and the Junior Jacob Persingers. They are not related, except by adoption, and both had quite large families of children, and some of the descendants of both intermarried with the Carpenter family.

JACOB PERSINGER SR. - from Morton's Alle., co., p. 134

His brothers, Christina, Philip, and Jacob Persinger migrated from Rockingham Co., Va. to Greenbair in 1751, and staked out claims. A few years they were driven out by the Indians. In 1760, Jacob as the executor of Philip, and as Christina was not living in 1768, it is a fair inference that both lost their lives in the Indian war. Christina was married and left a daughter Barbara. Jacob, too, had a marriageable dau. in 1762, but sometime after 1768 he married a widow, Mrs. Catherine Spence. Seems like this Jacob during the French and Indian war went back to Rocking Co., and did not return till 1771, and settled down in the Jackson river region.

John A. Preston was a son of Rev. David A. and Jeannette Creigh. His father was a Presbyterian minister who preached in Florida and Va. His ill health forced him to retire, so he settled on a farm near Lewisburg, W. Va., and here ~~John A.~~ John A. was born. John A. Preston at the age of 17 in 1865 joined the Confederate Army.

After the war, he resumed his studies at the Wash. & Lee Univ. at Lexington, Va., and was admitted to the bar in 1873.

After graduation he returned to Lewisburg and began the practice of law with his father-in-law, Samuel Price. His first wife died in 1882, and in Feb. 1892, he married again Miss Lillie Davis, dau. of John J. Davis of Clarksburg, W. Va. By her he had two other children - John J. Davis Preston and Walter Creigh Preston.

NOTE: Different articles written on the Price family in Price's Pothantus Co., Coles Greenbrier, and in the 1938 Cent. Ed. of the Greenbrier newspaper, vary in their version as to the ancestor of Governor Sam Price. The Cole Article on Samuel Price is so confusing as to his ancestor, as well as to his career, that it is practically worthless as a reference. The version I have followed comes from Price's Poca. Co. History, with Jacob # 2, as ancestor.

Whoever wrote this article on the Price family, surely did not read it over and make errors of correction. I will try and make a plausible story out of the jumbled up mess.

Samuel Price, the Progeniture of this family in Augusta Co., Va., came from Cardiff Wales about 1735 to South Carolina. In 1748, he moved with his family to Augusta Co., Va. There were several children, but all that is known ~~was~~ by the Greenbrier descendants were three boys - Thomas, Jacob, and Samuel.

Which of the pioneer Price bros. Thomas, Jacob, Samuel, are the parents of these Prices is impossible to determine. This chart is being made accurate as possible from the data I have at hand. Until I have more reliable data, it is impossible to complete parts of it. There may be some errors in W.T. Price Article, but most of it is reliable as far as it goes. The article in Cole's Gr. p.63 is so ambiguously written that is impossible to be a reliable reference.

Some of the following records will be taken from other family records that is authentic data taken from family bibles, and from letters written years ago.

14. Arbuckle,
Elbow Cal.,

Dear Mr. Arbuckle,

Your letter of June 25th received while
I was in Washington D.C.
All of the persons mentioned are dead and not many descendants left, or interested in family history.
My father's history of Pocahontas becomes more interesting
the years go by.
In all of his playacting millions I should say, he failed to ask for "a retention memory". It was given him. He was in his 94th year at time of his death and could remember every thing.
I have not yet gotten around to look over his papers and books.

If I hear of any one knowing of the Price family records will let you know. Are you related? In all parts of the County you find Prices.

There is a large family of Arbuckle who still live on their old family home steads in Quebec County West Virginia. Fighters in the Revolutionary War.

I have John Mather's medical book, owned by my Great Grandfather Thomas Price, of Craig County through the Revolutionary War. That book if the good Methodists would give reprints of it would put the cost out of business. I am and I would be of more help to you.
Sincerely, Anna Price Hunter

Sitlington heirs vs. Sitlington's widow - Bill. Dec. 3, 1805. Orators are viz: James Kelso, and Elizabeth, his wife, John Young and Polly, his wife; Nathan Crawford and Jane, his wife; Jennet Sloan (Kean?), wife; of whom Elizabeth, Polly, Jane Crawford, Jennet and Agnes are the daughters and Jane Erwin is granddaughter of John Sitlington, deceased. John was brother of whole blood of Andrew Sitlington, Bath. Andrew died 1787 without issue, widow Elizabeth. He made a will, dated 1801, and this suit is to contest it on account of inability by age and infirmity, being 90 years old. Andrew had written to John in Ireland to come to Virginia. He married Elizabeth when aged. She was a Montgomery? Her brother (?) John was a preacher. Defendants are viz: Elizabeth Sitlington (widow of Andrew), Jacob Warwick, Andrew Sitlington Warwick, Andrew Sitlington (son of Robert Sitlington), John Montgomery, and Andrew Erwin. Jacob Warwick answers that cratrix, Jane McLaughlin, is niece of Andrew Sitlington, who is understood to have had a half-sister, Mrs. Sherman, living in Penn. at his death. Andrew had married the mother of Jacob. Elizabeth answers that John Sitlington had a son, Robert, now living in Bath. James Erwin is brother of Jane McLaughlin. Andrew died April 15, 1804. He was in his 85th year. John Sitlington came to this country in 1774. Andrew and Elizabeth were married in 1779. Andrew Sitlington's will dated Oct. 12, 1801. Proved in Bath county, June 1804. wife Elizabeth; legatee Jean Crawford, wife of Nathan Crawford. Legatee Andrew Sitlington Crawford, son of Nathan. Legatee Jennet Sloan and her daughter, Beaty, wife of Andrew Beaty. Legatee Elizabeth Kelso wife of James Kelso. Legatee Elizabeth, Sitlington Kelso, daughter of Elizabeth Kelso. Legatee nephew, James Erwin. Legatee nephew, Andrew Erwin. Legatee Elizabeth McDonald, daughter of John. Legatee Elizabeth McDonald, daughter of Samuel. Legatee Andrew Sitlington Warwick, son of Jacob. Legatee Andrew Sitlington, son of Robert. Letter by Andrew to John dated Greenbrier, 25th September, 1776, speaks of brother William (in Pennsylvania), and brother Thomas, of sister Elizabeth.

Andrew Sitlington, who came to America before 1760, and to the Cowpasture soon after 1766, lived chiefly on the Craighhead farm till his death in 1804. To relatives and friends he left sums amounting to $3,000.00. Like his brother Robert he had no children. A third Sitlington was John, who lived at the mouth of Stuart's creek.
 William and James were his sons. The latter was killed in the battle of Falling Spring, though not, it is said, until he had slain two of the foe. His scalp, identified by its yellow hair, was recovered.
 William, who died in 1772, has many descendants, although the surname has for several decades been extinct both in Bath and Highland.
 The Sitlingtons were people of much thrift and prominence.

Martin H. Wallace of Illinois was a brother to William H. Wallace and like him was a brevet brigadier general in the Union Army. These brothers were of the Wallace family that settled on the Cowpasture a little below Williamsville. General W. H. Wallace, who was killed in the battle of Shiloh, also served in the war with Mexico. He married a daughter of T. L. Hickey, a justice of the Supreme Court of Illinois, and of Augusta county court.

Wallace's Post. Co., N. Va., p. 139

James McNeal (island) married Benjamin Wallace, of Bath County, Va.
 Dr. J. H. Wallace, an eminent physician at this point, lately deceased, was her son. Her daughter, Rachel, became Mrs. William Hefner, a prominent citizen of Braxton county. Her other daughter, Elizabeth, married Christopher Jordan

Bath county Wallaces

Thomas Wallace who was born in Scotland, came, along with his wife to Virginia in 1790 and settled on the Caw Pasture River, near Green Valley. One of his descendants, Georg W. Wallace, lives on this farm.

A grandson of Thomas Wallace was Gen. William H.L.Wallace, a Brevet Brigadier-General in the Union Army, who was killed in the battle of Shiloh.

A second grandson, Martin R.M.Wallace, was likewise a brevet Brigadier-General in the Union Arms.

For a more detailed account of these two men, see "A History of William H.Lamb Wallace." by Isabel Wallace.

WALLACE

Thomas (w Sarah) came from Del. before 1790 and settled on CP, below Williamsville - D. 1799. His son Mathew (b.1772, m.Sarah Burns, 1801) is ancestor of the Wallaces of Bath.

Worton's Bath, p.202

Thomas Wallace came from Delaware in 1781, purchased the upper half of the McCreery homestead, and died in 1799. His children were: Mathew, David, Josiah, John, Benjamin, Joseph, Thomas, Polly, and Nancy. Mathew born in 1772, is the ancestor of the Wallaces of Bath. General W.H.L.Wallace, killed in the battle of Shiloh in 1862, sprang from another branch.

Worton's Alle., Co., Va.

Martin R.M.Wallace of Illinois was a brother to William H.L.Wallace and like him was a brevet brigadier general in the Union army. These brothers were of the Wallace family that settled on the Cowpasture a little below Williamsville. General W.H.L. Wallace, who was killed in the battle of Shiloh, also served in the war with Mexico. He married a daughter of T.Lyle Dickey, a justice of the Supreme Court of Illinois, and of Augusta county court.

Price's Poca., Co., W.Va., p.139

Hannah McNeel (Isaac) married Benjamin Wallace, of Bath county, Va. Dr. Matt Wallace, an eminent physician at Mill Point, later deceased, was her son. Her daughter, Rachel, became Mrs. William Heiner, a prominent citizen of Braxton county. Her other daughter, Elizabeth, married Christopher Jordan
